

Students' art work goes on display

Arundel Museum is exhibiting work from art students at Northbrook College for the opening of the Norfolk Gallery's 2006 season. The Perspectives exhibition is showcasing a huge variety of work from six Sussex students working in diverse media.

They include sculptor Paul Cox who trained at the Royal Academy Schools in London, ceramics specialist Eileen Brown, wood sculptor Paul Chapman, stonemason and silver worker Lorraine Gibby and painter Carl Woodward. The event was organised by Northbrook College in conjunction with the museum and was officially opened by the Mayor of Arundel, Joe Hayes. The exhibition will be open until May 23 and there will be the opportunity to buy some of the work and to commission works from the artists themselves.

Arundel Mayor Joe Hayes with artist and sculptor Paul Cox

014175961

